OSHAWA PEACE CONFERENCE IN PROGRESS

CIO Demand For Recognition May Be Withdrawn

Washington—Talking with one of his friends the other day, the President said there were just two things worrying him. He wasn't worried for a minute about the outcome of his Supreme court battle. He said he was sure to win.

But he was worried about (1) balancing the budget and inflation; (2) about the very real danger of war in Europe.

Regarding the first, he said he was going to do his best to bring down prices of durable goods, which had been hiked artificially. He was also determined to bring the budget closer to line.

Regarding the international situation, the President felt that it was up to the British and French to get together on some arms limitation program, following which the United States would be glad and anxious to back them up.

The President is convinced that it would be bad policy for the United States to make any move first. He remembers taking the initiative in the spring of 1933 to save the Geneva arms conference, only to be slapped in the face by the French, and he doesn't want to be slapped again.

British Reluctance

This time, however, the French are reported ready to welcome any American move, while the slap probably would come from the British. Reports which American diplomats have sent Roosevelt state that the British are determined to push through their rearmament program, don't want to talk limitation until they are well abreast of Germany.

Anyway Roosevelt says he doesn't want to risk a slap from the British, and he will do nothing until the French and British pave the way. After that he will throw the entire weight of the United States into the move for arms limitation.

Cowboy Sage

The foremost authority on American folk lore is on the rolls of WPA. He is John A. Lomax, collector of cowboy songs, who brought from the obscurity of western campfires that famous ballad, "Home on the Range."

Lomax is not a relief client but one of the bosses of relief clients. He is running a project for collecting American folk lore, and spends part of his time in Southern prisons.

Lomax has found that the best way to get the old work songs of the Negroes is to visit penitentiaries. "Most of the good Negro singers are serving time some place," says Lomax. The old work songs he wants to catch are best preserved from adulteration with modern jazz in the minds of Negroes who have been shut off from society for a long time.

These are an almost untapped reservoir of folk lore—songs, entirely different from the spirituals that have grown out of the Negro's religious life.

Strangest thing about Lomax is that he is no singer, must depend on mechanical devices to catch the songs he wants. He carries in his car an electric recording instrument, drives up to a prison cotton patch where men are singing, and turns it on.

"Unhappy Chandler"

Senator LaFollette's astounding disclosures of murder and terrorism by coal operators in bloody Harlan county have made Kentucky's young Governor "Happy" Chandler most unhappy.

Among other things they put a definite crimp in Happy's yen to step into the senatorial shoes of the state's veteran Alben Barkley.

The villain of the LaFollette revelation was Sheriff Theodore R. Middleton, who admitted to the Senate committee that his wife was one of four stockholders in a company store earning 170 per cent profit, that 11 coal operators signed his surety bond, and that many of the deputies he appointed were either ex-convicts or indicted for various offenses.

Middleton also admitted that he himself had served a five month term for liquor violation.

But when these same facts were laid before Chandler by the United Mine Workers, a month before the Senate revelation, the governor, in one of his happiest and most blithesome moods, completely exonerated the sheriff. He even pronounced him an "excellent officer."

The miners claim that Chandler's attitude is due to secret contributions which Harlan county coal operators made to his campaign. Elected on a pro-labor ticket, Happy has completely deserted them.

One result: Chandler's chances

Blonds Are Out

Los Angeles, April 22—(AP)—John W. Hunt, wealthy white follower of the Negro, "Father Divine," was at liberty on $25,000 bond, charged with violating the Mann Act, and his pretty 17-year-old girl accuser was in seclusion after asserting "I don't like fat blond men."

"I don't like fat blond men," said Delight Jewett, 17, whom the government charges was transported by Hunt to California for immoral purposes, the two registering at hotels as "Jesus the Christ" and "Virgin Mary."

Hunt, indicted yesterday, will be arraigned Monday. Miss Jewett appeared for two hours before the federal grand jury yesterday to testify that Hunt represented to her she was to bring "a new Messiah into the world."

DOUBT VALIDITY OF DIVORCE OF WALLY SIMPSON

Wedding To Windsor Is Postponed To June Friends Report

London, April 22—(AP)—Legal doubt of the validity of Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson's first divorce was raised again today after friends had disclosed plans that would make her the June bride of the Duke of Windsor.

A Berriedale Keith, a famous constitutional lawyer, wrote to the Edinburgh Scotsman expressing his doubt that Mrs. Simpson was properly divorced from her first husband in the eyes of British law. He again raised the issue, he said, because a date for the wedding has been fixed.

Keith urged the government last month to remove all doubt of the marital status of the woman for whose love former King Edward VIII renounced his throne.

Mrs. Simpson was divorced from Lieut.-Com. E. W. Spencer, Jr., United States navy, in Warrenton, Va., in 1927. Her conditional divorce from Ernest Aldrich Simpson was granted at Ipswich Oct. 27, and is expected to be made final soon after April 27.

"The only divorces which English law certainly recognizes as dissolving marriages effectively for purposes of status in England are

Alleged Drunken Driver Is Jailed

Harvey Cline and J. H. Hollingsworth of this city were arrested yesterday afternoon by State Highway Officer Rex Flach on state route 2 about three miles east of Dixon, following receipt of complaints that cars were being forced from the highway. The car had careened into a ditch before the highway officer overtook the pair and when he placed them under arrest, Cline, according to the officer, struck him.

A passing car was commandeered and Cline and Hollingsworth were taken to the county jail where they were locked up. Hollingsworth was arraigned before Justice J. O. Shaulis this morning, where he paid a fine of $5 and costs on an intoxication charge. Officer Flach filed an information in the county court charging Cline with the operation of an automobile while in an intoxicated condition and he is to be arraigned before Judge Leon Zick Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Hobo College Closed Forever Unless Poets Come to Rescue

Chicago, April 22—(AP)—The doors of the hobo college swung shut today and from statistical Slim Brundage, the founder, came an appeal to the poets to save its good name.

To Carl Sandburg, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Edgar Lee Masters and other contemporary bards he sent pleas for contributions of their literary work to be offered for sale at an auction with a dual purpose.

Purpose No. 1, he said, is to memorialize Alfred Edward Houseman, English writer of verse, on the first anniversary of whose death May 2 the auction is scheduled.

Purpose No. 2 is to pay off the

It was the owner of the West Madison street building housing the Knowledge Box, and not a spring vacation, that forced closing of the "cultural center for a hundred thousand hoboes."

"The college is bankrupt," said Slim sadly. "We owe $28 rent and two months' light bills."

But Brundage expressed anxiety lest poets and public conclude that the auction is nothing but a land-lord's bluff.

"This auction," said his announcement to the press, is intended to encourage an appreciation of Houseman, the Cambridge professor whose "Shropshire Lad" and other poems are so fine that few people know or appreciate them."

WILL ATTEMPT TO TAKE FOOD TO STARVING

Spanish Government Batteries Try To Open The Way

St. Jean De Luz, Franco-Spanish Border, April 22—(AP)—A defiant fleet of British food ships, under the high seas guard of British men-of-war, determined today to smash the Spanish insurgent blockade of Bilbao and provision the near-starving Basque capital.

While three of the five freighters, driven to cover here by attacks from insurgent vessels, put up steam for the attempt to run the blockade, government shore batteries along the Bay of Biscay coast started booming at dawn to sweep the turbulent waters of insurgent warships.

The food-laden British vessels were reported authorized by their owners to run the gauntlet, despite a warning from the British government, and were promised an escort of British warships to the three-mile limit.

At that point, the government shore batteries and fleet of small armed craft will take over the job of fighting off insurgent attacks.

The first victims of the effort to prove the way was open to Bilbao and its refugee-swollen population of 400,000 were three insurgent travelers who came within range of the guns at Santander just after dawn.

Attempting to raid a fleet of fishing vessels anchored off Lequelito they were driven back by the long range coast artillery of the Basques.

Insurgent sources reported their ships ranged the Basque coast, just off Bilbao, ready to swoop down on any ships defying their blockade.

Madrid, April 22—(AP)—A thunderous government artillery assault against the gun emplacements from which insurgents have punished Madrid with death and destruction for 11 days drowned out the insurgent cannonade today and enabled government ground troops to fight their way into the

Special Meeting of Council Held

A special meeting of the city council was held last evening at 5 o'clock at which time, bids for the disposal and removal of garbage for the ensuing year were opened and filed until Friday evening at 8 o'clock when the contracts will be awarded at the regular weekly meeting of the commission. George Covert submitted the only bid for the purchase of the garbage which amounted to $185. The following submitted bids for the collection of garbage, ashes and rubbish: Ed Lambert, $3,499; J. A. Somer, $4,500; John J. Bradley, $4,100; Theron H. Taylor, $4,195; Frank Higgins, $4,185; Fred Stanley, $5,000; John O. Nelson, $3,886; George Brown, $3,950.

He also signed today a bill sponsored by H. V. Teel, Rushville Democrat, and four other representatives exempting Mobile farm machinery from having motor vehicle licenses.

He also approved a bill by Rep. James Boyle, Chicago Democrat, making a $105,000 deficiency appropriation from the road fund for the automobile department.

A bill by Senator Arnold P. Benson, Batavia Republican, a validating measure for the Newark high school district in Kendall county, became a law without executive approval.

Baby William R. Ruppert is Called

State Senators Think Things Over and Will Stay Up Wednesday Eve

Upper House of Legislature is Saving Face

Springfield, Ill., April 22—(AP)—Belligerent senators, thinking about their war with the house, promised today they would stay up late next Wednesday night.

The administration's sales tax extension-relief financing bills will be passed on schedule next week, said senate leaders in the first retreat from threats that they wouldn't vote on any house measures.

To avoid a boomerang in the form of a relief crisis, the senate's executive committee will recommend passage of the Adamowski sales tax bills Tuesday morning, after the week-end adjournment that started today with perfunctory sessions.

Third reading can't be reached before Thursday, which means the senators must sit up until after midnight for the final passage roll calls on the bills approved by the house two days ago.

Then President Pro Tem George M. Maypole and other Democratic senate leaders can take the Pullmans back to Chicago. And Earl B. Searcy, the Republican leader, who has been "front man" in the senate's war, can walk to his home in Springfield.

Fighting Near End

By that time, unconcerned house spokesmen predicted, the fighting would be off. Maypole already spread word that "meritorious" bills would get due consideration by what House Leader Benjamin S. Adamowski called the "House of Lords."

Maintaining their air of deliberative dignity, the representatives gave the senate an opportunity to save its face. Speaker Louis E. Lewis announced that beginning next week the house would hold business sessions on Thursday, adding another day to the work week starting Monday night.

By working longer and showing a willingness to pass senate bills, the house would enable the senators to claim success in the legislative war. The trouble started when the house killed a Searcy bill and other senators claimed they weren't getting proper attention from the lower chamber.

Deadlock Continues

The deadlock continued, however, on the assembly's major dispute, the Chicago park district's peg levy bill. Adamowski and other house conferees refused to yield to demands of senate members of the conference committee that the original $9,000,000 annual levy be restored.

The danger was that another open break might occur between Governor Horner, who thinks $7,600,000 is plenty for the parks, and Mayor Kelly of Chicago.

Horne yesterday signed another Chicago peg levy bill, the ward measure increasing from $1,800,000 to $2,000,000 the library tax yield.

He also signed today a bill sponsored by H. V. Teel, Rushville Democrat, and four other representatives exempting Mobile farm machinery from having motor vehicle licenses.

On Air This Eve

Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam, author of "Let's Explore Your Mind," a daily feature on page 4 of the Dixon Evening Telegraph, will be heard on the air over station WENR in the "Town Meeting of the Air" at 8:30 o'clock this evening. The philosopher will also be a guest speaker on the Joe Cook program at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening over station WMAQ.

Two Seek Divorces

Two divorces proceedings have been filed in the office of Circuit Clerk E. S. Rosecrans, in both of which desertion is charged. Bruce D. Hart of this city seeks a divorce from Nina C. Hart, charging that she deserted him Aug. 15, 1934 and is now residing in Whiteside county. They were married in Chicago, Oct. 18, 1906. Mrs. Marie Barr of this city also seeks separation from Joseph Barr, charging that he deserted her April 15, 1936. The couple were married at Lee Feb. 10, 1914.

Letter Carriers

The Thirtieth Congressional district Rural Letter Carrier's association and woman's auxiliary will meet Sunday afternoon at the Coliseum in Oregon. President John W. Bradar of Oregon has arranged an interesting program which will start at 2:30. Representative Frank B. Wilson of Woonsocket will be one of the speakers and a program of entertainment has been provided. The meeting will conclude with a pot-luck supper to be served at 6:30. Several of the rural carriers from the Dixon postoffice and their ladies will be in attendance.

Service Appeal

The Salvation Army home service appeal for funds to carry on the work in this region and in Illinois, which appeal is now being made in a simultaneous effort in Lee and Ogle counties, is now being completed. Appeal director the Rev. John M. Linden states that next Saturday, April 24th, tag efforts, will close this appeal in all points of both counties but that the Dixon and Amboy tag efforts will not take place until the following Saturday May 1st, 1937. The Dixon tag effort was postponed from next Saturday on account of another tag effort scheduled for that day.

Wording of Judge's Decree Unpleasing

Chicago, April 22—(AP)—An appeal was planned today against a decree annulling the purported marriage of Assistant Corporation Counsel Quin O'Brien and Miss Marguerite Eustice.

Attorney Alf M. Eberhardt, counsel for the 29-year-old school librarian, objected to the wording of several phrases in the decree written by Judge Donald S. McKinley. He said he would appeal on the grounds the disputed lines "read like a dime novel."

Eberhardt protested inclusion of a finding that O'Brien had been kidnapped and abused. O'Brien said recently he would file kidnapping charges against Miss Eustice and others who he said forced him to accompany them to Morrison, Ill. last Feb. 3 where the voided marriage ceremony occurred.

Objection also was made to a provision in the decree prohibiting use of O'Brien's name by Miss Eustice, who testified she wanted a name "for my unborn child."

Butter By Card

Berlin, April 22—(AP)—Butter, by card only, is the new rule for hikers and other vacationists in Germany this summer.

"Traveling butter cards" will control German fat consumption during the period when millions of citizens temporarily are absent from their home towns.

Hikers and others buying as they go along will be required to show a special card to get butter. The card will be countersigned by the home-towner dealer from whom butter rations normally are obtained.

Holstein Breeders To Discuss Show

Plans for the Black and White show to be sponsored by the Rock River Valley Holstein association at Assembly Park, Dixon, next June, will be discussed at a meeting of association members in the Chamber of Commerce in Dixon tonight, Roy Degner, president, said. He expects all committeemen named at a recent meeting will be present to report progress in their various assignments. J. J. Cole of Amboy is general chairman in charge of arrangements. The association is made up of Holstein breeders of Lee, Ogle, Whiteside and Bureau counties.

Cell Block Under Construction

Among the large group of new buildings under construction at the local institution is a security hospital, the foundation of which is being completed. This building will be equipped with a block of 40 cells and will be used exclusively for the detention of defective delinquent female patients. The building is located near the large water supply tank and when completed and ready for use will fill a long felt want at the institution in the handling of this type of patients.

Among the male employees' leaders in riotous uprisings have been transferred to Chester, but at the present time there is no institution in Illinois where defective delinquent females can be housed. Dr. Warren G. Murray, managing officer of the Dixon state hospital, has for many years favored the building of a special type of building to be used solely for the housing of this particular type of patients, male and female.

Machine Which Revivifies Human Heart After Death Demonstrated

St. Louis, April 22—(AP)—A new machine in which human hearts are revived after death and made to resume their normal blood-pumping function was demonstrated today before the American College of Physicians.

Dr. William B. Jountz of Washington University described how he had brought more than 100 hearts back to normal functioning after they had ceased beating in the human body for as long as six hours.

He described the device as different from the "glass heart" developed by Dr. Alexis Carrel, Rockefeller Institute Nobel prize winner, and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. The Carrel-Lindbergh device acts as a pump to carry nutrient solutions to a piece of tissue to make it continue living. Dr. Jountz declared.

In the Washington University apparatus, however, the heart itself is the pump which forces blood through a system of pipes and reservoirs similar to those of the body and a recent modification makes it possible for an entire liver, kidney or other human organ to be connected to the artificial circulation so that its behavior may be studied in ways not possible within the body.

Urges Compulsory Training of Boys

Washington, April 22—(AP)—Svenbjorn Johnson, law professor at the University of Illinois, advocated today compulsory military education in colleges and universities before the annual Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Johnson said youth owed it to the nation to prepare for its defense. "Military training is obviously at some place and at some time a vital factor in the education of future citizens," he said.

Camera Exhibit Opens Tonight At St. Luke's Church

Beautiful photographs both plain and colored including those taken by some of the foremost camera artists of the world will be on display in the guild rooms of the St. Luke's Episcopal church commencing at 7:45 P. M. tonight.

The photographic exhibit is being sponsored by the Phidian Art club. Ladies of the organization have been hard at work for several days arranging for the exhibit which includes besides numerous excellent local photographs taken by Dixon citizens, the Fort Dearborn Camera club collection, the famed Nowell Ward collection of six prize-winning photographs, and the colored exhibits of E. T. Howell, president of the Milwaukee Camera club.

Mr. Howell will address the club and all attending the exhibit tonight at 7:45 o'clock opening the display. Refreshments will be served.

New Characters To Participate In Mystery Play

Two new characters have been placed in the cast of "The Green Ghost," a comedy mystery-thriller in three acts that will be staged Thursday and Friday nights, April 29 and 30, at the First Methodist church by Mrs. Clara Shaw's Sunday school class.

The two new characters are Leo Rigby who will replace Bob Brewster as Dr. Barr, and Russell Byers who will take the place vacated by Jack Fritz as Detective-Sergeant Fitz.

The drama revolves around an eccentric old spinster, Miss Caroline Van West, who has called together all her relatives to help her frame her will including the famous Van West pearls which are suddenly stolen in the midst of negotiations, thereby throwing the situation into an uproar.

As the old Van West house is allegedly haunted, the attempts to recover the pearls and locate the culprit are complicated and made more weird and harrowing by sporadic appearances of the green ghost, supposed to be the spirit of old General Van West who disappeared in Civil war service and who is said to return to the house occasionally to meet his dead wife. Rumor is provided by Louis Leydig, as Reggie Van West, a cousin of Miss Caroline Van West, Detective Sergeant Fitz, slightly dumb, Magnolia, mysterious colored maid cast by Dolores Redebaugh, and Janice Parker, upstart young daughter of Mrs. Parker, cast by Naomi Woll. Mrs. Parker is played by Milla Wolkne.

Suspicion points to everyone and the conclusion surprises everyone including the audience.

The characters are:

Ah Lee, a Chinese butler—Willard Moore.

Dora Van West, an ex-show girl—Dorothy Helmick.

Reggie Van West, her cousin—Louis Leydig.

Mrs. Parker, another cousin—Milla Wolkne.

Janice Parker, her young daughter—Naomi Woll.

Carol Parker, Janice's older sister—Margaret Ballou.

Caroline Van West, head of the family—Mrs. Phillip Hopkins.

Magnolia, her colored maid—Dolores Redebaugh.

Dr. Barr, her physician—Leo Rigby.

Eric Van West, her nephew—Ralph Moore.

Lieutenant Craig, police staff—Charles Coffin.

Detective-Sergeant Fitz, his aide—Russell Byers.

Music Festival Developing Will Outdo Past Years

The annual music festival of the Dixon Woman's club will be held in the auditorium of Dixon high school Tuesday evening, May 4.

Every effort has been made to make this a memorable event. Many of the musical organizations and church choirs will furnish choral singing. This combined with an instrumental organization under the direction of Orville West-gore promises a most enjoyable evening.

The combined choruses will sing and the audience under the able direction of Miss Carolyn Bergstedt will join in community singing. The following will participate: Troubadours, Methodist church choir, Evangelical church choir, Lutheran church choir, St. Patrick's church choir, men's chorus, Dixon high school glee club, grade school boys' chorus.

Admission will be free, but by ticket only. These may be secured from the music committee. Mesdames: Elizabeth Jenks, chairman, Willard Thompson, Lester Street, Earl Auman, L. E. Sharpe, I. B. Potter, Bert Jacobson, B. J. Prazer and A. N. Boyd.

Farmer-Labor and Communist Parties Same Says Speaker

Washington, April 22—(AP)—Daughters of the American Revolution heard the Farmer-Labor and Communist parties linked today in an address by Mrs. Vinton E. Sisson of Chicago, National Defense Chairman.

Discussing the growth of the Farmer-Labor movement, Mrs. Sisson's prepared speech said:

"Through the medium of this so-called American party, the Communist party bores from within to accomplish its purpose."

That method, she said, is "far more dangerous to the welfare of this country than the open flaunting of the revolutionary purpose which for the present they choose to conceal."

Judge John J. Parker of Charlotte, N. C., once rejected by the senate for the Supreme Court seat now held by Justice Cardozo, said in a prepared speech that "democracy is in graver danger than it has been at any time since the fall of Napoleon."

He urged the retention of individual and states' rights, but expressed belief the federal government must be given a greater measure of control over matters affecting the national welfare "either by revising our concept of the power possessed by the federal government under the commerce clause of the Constitution or by amendment of the Constitution."

MISS EDITH LUKE HONORED AT DINNER

Miss Georgia Loretta Sill delightfully entertained a group of friends at a dinner given in honor of Miss Edith Luke, bride-to-be at the Coffee House Monday.

The guests each presented Miss Luke with a salad plate of fuchsia glassware.

Those present were: Mrs. C. A. Mellott, Mrs. Mary Brown, Miss Edna Mossholder, Miss Dora Mae Dunne, Mrs. Ray King and the Misses Edith, Josephine and Mabel Luke.

MRS. HUBERT HOSTESS TO FRIENDS AT LUNCH

Mrs. E. G. Hubert entertained a few friends today at luncheon followed by bridge.

St. James Women's Missionary Body Met On Thursday

St. James Women's Missionary society met with Mrs. Clarence Bothe Thursday afternoon.

The meeting opened by all singing "God Will Take Care of You." Lillian Shippert read the Scripture lesson, after which prayer was given in unison. Roll call was answered by thirteen members and again two new members were welcomed.

Two delegates were chosen to attend the conference which will be held May 12 in the Lutheran church at Polo. Quiz questions were answered. An instructive lesson from the topic was given by Mrs. Wiley Shippert. Prayer closed the meeting.

A social time followed, and refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held at the Green home, May 12.

OUR GANG CLUB

Last Thursday, April 15, Our Gang was entertained by Helen Travis, at her home. After the business meeting, during which plans for the summer were discussed, 500 became the diversion of the evening. First prizes were won by Dorothy and Robert Tourillott. Consolation favors went to Gladys Ortgiesen and Fred Glessner. After delicious refreshments were served by the hostess everyone went home having enjoyed the evening with Miss Travis.

The next meeting will be at Lyle Karr's home.

FOR BRIDE ELECT

Miss Edith Luke of this city was the guest of Mrs. Gertrude Book Tuesday evening at a dinner party given at the Treasure Island cafe in Rochelle, the guest of honor being a bride-to-be of an early date.

DAILY HEALTH

By DR. IAGO GALDSTON

Sex Education

Sex education should not be confused with sex instruction. This was urged by Dr. Susan Isaacs during a recent talk she made before the British Physiological society.

An individual may possess, as many adults do, an appreciable knowledge on sexual matters, and yet from the viewpoint of his or her emotional or feeling attitude to the subject, may be "badly educated."

Sex education of course includes knowledge of the essential facts of reproduction, but in addition it is also concerned with the individual's, and notably the child's, feelings, wishes and relations to people.

Dr. Isaacs correctly maintains that sex education has for its objective the fostering of right attitudes of wisdom and of happiness. The aims of life are therefore involved in sex education. Moreover, it goes on all through an individual's life, whether conscious or not.

Obviously, the sex education of the young is not to be attained entirely by specific instruction. The child is quite likely to learn much by observing the common everyday relations of his elders.

A happy, harmonious home gives the child the right background against which to set the specific factual knowledge of sex physiology. Around this knowledge will prevail a feeling tone of goodness, and of gratification. In an undefined way he will sense that sex pertains to the "life giving loving and creating" and not to hating or destroying.

When the child begins to ask questions about birth, or sexual differences, his questions should be answered as simply as possible. Elaborate descriptions of sexual anatomy or physiology are more likely to confuse and bewilder the child than they are to enlighten him.

The questions of small children are best answered by the parent, those of older children by other people. The child who fails to ask questions may not be lacking in curiosity, but he may be laboring under an anxiety.

One significant experience in the child's development is the manner in which it acquires what is termed a sense of modesty. All too often this comes by way of being ashamed, rather than by being encouraged to cultivate and to respect personal privacy.

Tomorrow—The Little Hurts

Mischa Rosenbaum Is Indicted For Hammer Murder

New York, April 22—(AP)—The grand jury has indicted Mischa Rosenbaum, 31, on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the death of Miss Julia Nussbaum, night club violinist.

The girl, who had appeared in entertainments with Rosenbaum, was found unconscious from blows on the head early last Sunday in a rehearsal studio in uptown New York. She died without regaining consciousness.

Rosenbaum, who was taken into custody a few hours after the girl died, also is known as Mischa Ross and Mischa Rosen.

Mrs. Brill Wants Annulment On Her Own Behalf Now

Los Angeles, April 22—(AP)—Nan pierson Brooks Macy Brill of New York society asked for an annulment on her own behalf in answering the summons suit filed by William Hunsaker Brill, Los Angeles sportsman.

She charged that he secretly intended not to "perform the obligations of the contract of marriage" and refused to live with her as man and wife.

Denial was made by the twice-married beauty of Brill's allegation that he was under the influence of liquor when they were wed at Yuma, Ariz., March 29. He filed suit four days later.

70TH ANNIVERSARY

Mendota, Ill., April 22—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Denham observed their 70th wedding anniversary Wednesday. Mr. Denham is 94, his wife 89.

WOMEN UNSUCCESSFUL

Davis, Ill., April 22—(AP)—The Women were unsuccessful as politician in the municipal election Tuesday, a complete count of the ballots showed today. Led by Frank Clark, elected village president, the Citizens' party's all-male ticket blanketed the Independent party's all-female candidates. The women candidate for president, Verda Mulhall, was defeated by a vote of 148 to 44.

RUFFING, CHAMP HOLDOUT, NEAR SIGNING TODAY

Private "Sitdown" Is Gaining Nothing For Pitcher

Chicago, April 22—(AP)—The season's champion holdout campaign, manned by Charles Herbert Ruffing who won 20 games for the New York Yankees last season, was $500 nearer its finish today.

Ruffing, whose first demand of $30,000 had dwindled down to a very stubborn $16,000—$15,000 for pitching and $1,000 for pinch-hitting—last night declared himself willing to sign for $15,500. The Yankees management, however, hadn't weakened even $500 worth, according to Manager Joe McCarthy and Business Manager Ed Barrow. They insisted the brick topped right-hander would get no more than $15,000.

Barrow even hinted that since Ruffing had refused $15,000 for the past six weeks, he might not be offered that much again.

Eager to get into action, Ruffing said he was ready to join the Yankees immediately. If offered $15,500 he was kept busy making repairs on his apartment building here, but has found time for drills with the University of Chicago squad.

Ruffing said he was so close to playing condition that the threat by Col. Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, to withhold salary checks until the hurler was ready to take his turn on the mound, was causing him no worry.

PAW PAW NEWS

By Mrs. John Uley
Paw Paw—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baker entertained Mark Sampson last week.

Fred Smith is convalescing from his recent illness.

Miss Hilda Peters visited at the Charles Smiths home Sunday. Philip Truckenbrod is having repair work done on his home.

Miss Ruth Reynolds of Wyandot spent the week-end at the J. R. Reynolds home.

Byron Rosenkrans was elected mayor Tuesday without opposition. Trustees elected were: Ira Talcott, Arlie Hunter, Frank Ambler, Lou Miller, Dee McLaughlin and Harold Torman. H. J. Beach was elected police magistrate and George Kelly, village clerk. The library tax question carried.

Baptist Church

Sunday school at 10.

Sunday morning worship, "David," at 11.

Sunday evening gospel service "Vigilance" at 7:30.

Friday night the prayer meeting will be held at the home of Miss Jessie Smith. There was a great blessing in our discussion before prayer and during the prayer period. Come on Friday evening and enjoy this time of Christian Fellowship.

There was a meeting of the young people of the Baptist church to discuss plans for the coming "camp." The officers are: president, Roberta Uley; secretary, Carol Fightmaster; treasurer, Marj. Manahan. Campers, remember the weeks will not be long in going. Attend as many meetings as possible.

The Paw Paw B. Y. P. U. visited the Shabbona B. Y. P. U. on last

Sunday. There was a very interesting meeting.

I suppose all the citizens of Paw Paw are thrilled at the success of the singers from the high school at the recent choral contest at De Kalb. Rev. Gilbert Johnstone wants to inform the people of Paw Paw and vicinity that many of these singers can be heard every Sunday night at the Baptist church.

Changes are going on at the Baptist church. The members have been busy cleaning the floors and other parts of the church prior to the laying of the new rugs.

The Baptist Church Missionary meeting will be held on Tuesday afternoon.

Now that we are rid of most of the mud we expect the country people not to forget church. It is easy to get out of the habit of coming when you are stuck for a few months, but it is a bad habit. Go to church Sunday.

The Men's Fellowship will meet on Tuesday evening, May 4th in the church. Earl Trovough will bring a patrol of Boy Scouts to demonstrate practical scouting.

The Compton Epworth League entertained the Rochelle and Paw Paw Epworth Leagues at a service and fellowship on last Sunday evening.

An original skit based on Tolstoy's "Where Love is, God is" and written by Mrs. H. C. Barton was presented by a group of young people. Misses Marylouise Locke and Margery Mannahan sang the very lovely duet, "Whispering Hope". Miss Betty Jane Judy presided over the meeting. A few games were played and refreshments were served.

Sunday School Board Meets

The M. E. Sunday school board met on Monday evening of this week. After the business meeting, Rev. Coleman reviewed the book "The Recovery of Worship," by Fiske. The meeting was well attended.

Boy Scout Troop to be Formed

If there are enough boys in the community that are interested in scouting there will be an active troop in Paw Paw. Six boys met with Rev. Coleman on Monday night of this week and began study for the tenderfoot tests. Eight boys are needed to begin a troop. If your boy is interested in the things that real boys are interested in everywhere, encourage him to join this group of boys who are training for genuine American manhood. Mr. Terry, Mr. French, Mr. Nangle, Mr. Town, and Rev. Coleman are the Scout committee. The Community Club is sponsoring the organization.

Re-Elect District Superintendents

Ottawa, Ill., April 22—(AP)—Three district superintendents were re-elected by delegates attending the evangelical state conference this week.

They were the Rev. L. C. Schmidt of the Chicago district, the Rev. Philip Buscher of the Peoria district and the Rev. J. C. Schaefer of the Rockford district.

Appointments for pastorates will be announced at the close of the Sunday afternoon session.

CARRY ON

Until recently, most well-informed Americans supposed that medical science had finally "conquered" yellow fever. Beginning with Gorgas, Reed, and their confreres in Havana, science had shown that the disease was transmitted solely by one particular species of mosquito, called aedes aegypti; as this obnoxious pest was brought under control, yellow fever was sure to vanish.

The annual report of the Rockefeller Foundation, however, reveals that the picture is not so rosy. For it has been discovered that yellow fever can and does occur in regions where aedes aegypti has never appeared. Vast areas of South American jungle are centers of the disease, and some entirely new villain must be sought.

There are no brighter chapters in all medical history than those which tell of its fight with yellow fever. It may be discouraging to learn that the fight has not yet been won, but has merely entered a new phase. And yet, in view of past performances, who can doubt that medical science will find the brains, the courage, and the stick-to-itiveness to carry on until the victory is final?

CENTRAL OR DUAL GOVERNMENT

Efforts to transplant social and commercial legislation from European countries to the United States do not take into account difference in size of the territory involved.

Our republic has been a success because of its dual form. We have not undertaken to impose upon the people of Montana the customs of the people of Georgia. Each state has been a law unto itself in all things except those which the framers of the constitution decided should be yielded to the central government of the United States.

The south has problems peculiar to itself. The "old" west was a contrast to the effete east. Minnesota and Wisconsin go socialist, while Illinois remains orthodox in its affairs of government.

Now we are being rushed headlong into courses that lead us to government that runs us all through the same groove. Some of the ideas are being brought from abroad, where they have not been as successful as their advance agents predicted. No account is taken of the difference in the size of the countries involved over there and the size of the United States.

There is Denmark, the ideal of the promoters of co-operatives. Denmark has about 17,000 square miles. It is about twice the size of little New Jersey and has fewer inhabitants.

We are told how well Sweden does certain things, but Sweden is only a little larger geographically than California. Sweden has 173,000 square miles and California has 158,000.

The great German empire was how big? Not as large as the single state of Texas. Texas has 265,896 square miles, but the German empire had only 208,825.

France has 207,000 square miles.

Italy, with its 91,000 miles is not as large as New York and Pennsylvania.

Because it has been possible for some of these countries to carry on those enterprises that are possible where comparatively few inhabitants are involved, we are asked to centralize our governments in Washington that affairs of this vast country may be dictated by bureaucrats situated there. It is argued that everything must be uniform, that we 130 million persons must be shaped in the same groove. But no such thing is attempted in Europe, except in Russia, which is backing out of its "ideal" setup a little at a time. In Europe each country legislates for itself, and that is what the plan was for the states of the United States. Their sizes are comparable. The expanse of territory is comparable. Racial differences are not so numerous, but we have them that create definite problems. In fact we fought a bloody war over one of them.

When we hear how well the Swedes have done something through the operation of the central government, let us take into account that the population of Sweden is substantially the same in number as that of Illinois. Then we fairly may consider whether a law that was workable in a territory no larger than this state should be plastered over all the forty-eight states and the place of executive removed from Springfield to Washington.

We do well if we do not permit ourselves to be rushed off our feet by reformers who have not had much experience outside of a college recitation room.

MR. TROTSKY TRIES HIMSELF

Leon Trotsky, who has been thrown out of some of the world's best and worst countries, is on trial in Mexico on a charge of trying to upset the government of Russia by conspiring with Nazi secret police to assassinate Stalin and his yes men.

Some of the attendants at the trial, who might be called jurors, are said to have quite liberal tendencies politically. Neither Stalin nor Hitler are to be called as witnesses.

In effect, it is a trial of Trotsky with himself in the roles of prosecutor, prosecuting witness, defense attorney, defendant, jury and judge.

Some of the alleged confessions made recently by thirteen old-line communists of Russia who have been shot have been introduced as evidence against Trotsky.

We take it that Trotsky will find himself innocent. The Nazi secret police will continue to deny, for political reasons, that they had any hand in the plot if there was a plot. Comrade Stalin will believe as usual that Trotsky is guilty, and the rest of the world will pay little attention to the outcome.

If Trotsky really desires vindication he should return to Russia where he is fervently wanted. He ought in all conscience to be tried by the system he himself helped to set up and in the manner in which he has seen other Russians tried.

RESETTLEMENT COSTS $10,000 A FAMILY

That resettlement projects, though highly regarded as a means of providing self sustenance for families having only part time employment, are still in an experimental rather than a practical stage, is conclusively demonstrated in the hearings on the 1937 agricultural appropriation bill.

Representative Everett M. Dirksen of the Sixteenth Illinois district, a member of the agricultural appropriations subcommittee, brought out by questioning of resettlement administration officials that in order for the federal government to obtain a fair return from the projects, it must charge off a liberal slice of the cost "as an allowance for relief labor."

Directing his inquiries specifically to the Waukegan project in Lake county, Illinois, largest in the state, Dirksen learned that the cost, $533,643, which amounts to considerably more than $10,000 a unit is high "because of considerable relief labor on that project."

"You should charge off so much on account of relief labor," asserted W. A. Alexander, resettlement administrator.

A charge off of about 25 percent would not be unreasonable, Alexander said.

None of the Waukegan homesteads has been sold to anybody in Lake county, it was brought out by Dirksen.

The purchasers amortize costs over a period of forty years, but their income level will not permit them to pay more than $20 a month, RA officials explained.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Text. Genesis 8:20-22; 9:8-17

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Editor of Advance

In his recent book, "The Use of the Bible in Preaching," Dr. Carl S. Patton, a brilliant preacher who in his later days has been a teacher of coming preachers, refers to the story of Noah. Dr. Patton is among those Christian scholars who believe that the modern thoroughgoing study of the Bible has greatly enriched the Book as a source of spiritual truth and guidance.

He points out that the literalism with which readers have insisted upon reading stories from the early life of Israel, written years after the events, has not saved these stories from considerable degeneration in the popular mind.

He speaks of the Book of Jonah as representing the high water mark of the Old Testament in its message concerning the inclusive love of God; yet he points out that in the popular mind this "truly wonderful book" has degenerated into a joke about Jonah and the whale.

It is Dr. Patton's purpose to save the glorious book of Jonah and the instructive story of Noah from such popular degradation; and it is the purpose of this lesson on Noah.

Anyone who senses with realism the problem of getting two animals of every kind into an ark would very readily conclude that it is a story with imaginative details. This does not in any way affect the question of whether the world was ever really deluged; more important, it has no effect at all upon the spiritual lessons of the story of Noah.

WEST BROOKLYN

By Henry Gehant

West Brooklyn—An unusually heavy vote was cast at the village election on Tuesday as there were two separate tickets. John Dingas was elected president with 72 votes, Wm. J. Long, village clerk, receiving 64 votes. Six trustees are: Prosper Gander, 62 votes; Laurent Gehant, 67 votes; Robert Ruhland, 78; Charles Elliott, 78; Henry W. Gehant, 79; and Rollie Minor, 76.

With the meeting of the village board held on Tuesday evening to canvas the election returns, Oliver Gehant completed 19 successive years as president. Former village presidents and the length of service of each are: Henry P. Gehant 11 years which was divided into one period of 6 years starting with the incorporation of the village and later he was again re-elected for a 5 year period; F. W. Meyer and F. D. Gehant each served 4 years; Oliver P. Johnson 3 years and J. H. Michel 2 years.

Funeral services were held at St. Mary's Catholic church at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning for the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Untz. Rev. Fr. Horner officiated at the services. The child had been ill for the past several months at the home of his parents, where he received loving care. Besides his parents he is survived by two sisters, Bernice and Dorothy, and three brothers, Leo, Robert and Albert John. Pallbearers were Donald Untz, Donald Henkel, Francis Eise and Delmar Delhot. Interment was made in St. Mary's Catholic cemetery.

Cletus Chaon of Compton took over his duties as manager of the F. W. Meyer store on Friday morning. The store was recently purchased by his father, Henry Chaon. Mr. Meyer completed his duties at the store on Saturday and is now enjoying a rest at his home where he hopes to regain his health after a long illness. Charles Elliott and William Long, Jr., will continue as clerks under the new management. Mr. and Mrs. Max Burley of Compton are the parents of a baby girl born at the Harris hospital on Monday. Mr. Burley is local dis-

Noah was not an ideal character. A great preacher, Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, in a sermon on Noah once pictured him after the flood, with his glorious opportunity to build anew in a world where old foundations had been swept away, wasting the supreme chance by going off and getting drunk.

But Noah, despite his weaknesses and his sins, had elements upon which society could be built. Above all things he was capable of a covenant with God; and the great teaching of this story of Noah is in this matter of the covenant—that man can build truly in life only as there is a covenant with the spiritual forces of the universe or, we should say, with God; and that this covenant brings man into right relationships with every living thing.

Suppose that, instead of a society in which each man and each class, in large measure is grasping for himself and his own interests, we had a race of men zealous first of all about their own uprightness, and then eager that his uprightness should be expressed in honesty toward one another, and in attitudes of consideration and mercy, where inequalities of strength and opportunity laid obligation upon the strong to serve the weak.

Here, in this conception of a covenant back in the dim areas of history, are the beginnings of that sublime teaching concerning the Kingdom of God and its realization on earth, that came to its fullest exemplification and expression in the life and teaching of Jesus of Nazareth. It is the covenant that is the important thing in the story of Noah.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

Albert Edward Wiggam, S.Sc.
A fascinating pastime with "THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND"

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes. According to Dr. Paul Popenoe, director of the Institute of Family Relations of Los Angeles, the divorce rate among movie people is at least four times as high as among people in general. In 1930 throughout the United States there were 17 divorces for every 100 marriages; in 1931, there were 17.3; and in 1932, 16.2. However, in the movie colony in 1933, out of 31 marriages 25 ended in divorce; in 1934, 54 out of 65; and in 1935, 58 out of 79 marriages were terminated by divorce. At

This booklet is in many respects the greatest yet offered by Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam in connection with "Let's Explore Your Mind." It contains TEN RULES, each scientifically tested and presented in clear, easily understood words. Included is a self-testing Self-Confidence or Personality Comparison chart.

The essence of the booklet is the work of Dr. David Mitchell, distinguished consulting psychologist. This booklet is issued without profit as a service to readers. A charge of 10c is made to cover costs. Enclose a 3-cent stamp, self-addressed return envelope. Address Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam in care of this newspaper. Just ask for SELF-CONFIDENCE.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Dr. Harriet E. O'Shea, Purdue university psychologist, in a study of how personality develops in children, concludes that if the tasks of life are too hard they discourage the development of the best in personality, and if too easy they cause loss of interest and a similar failure in personality development.

INSIDE NEWS

Well, here's Bill Horton coming around the corner so let us get into his hair. As everyone knows Bill belongs to the ranks of the greenhorns, more commonly known as freshmen. Isn't it logical that we should get his opinion on this question?

Why do freshmen persist in acting so green? "Some aren't. They're pink or white, like Jack Staples." Ahem! Just how shall we interpret that?

Of course, we all know that Bill likes to drive his mother's car around, and when we say around, we mean around. Let's ask him what he would do if his mother would say he couldn't.

"I'd buy a model T." Well, even a model T is better than none. We're all sure that Lester Gross would vouch for this.

If you had one wish what would you choose?

"I'd cut Bob Schoenberger's hair." Yes, you're not the only one who would like to.

"If you had to escape from this country, where would you go?" "I'd go to Moscow, Russia."

Just why Russia, Bill?

And that's all folks.

Byron News

By MRS. J. M. HEALD

BYRON—The city election held Tuesday resulted in a victory for Harry Bittner for mayor, Arlington Falk City Clerk, Chester McAfee for city treasurer and six aldermen as follows: Harry Patrick and Albert Smith in third ward; Murry Welty and Mel Market in second ward, and J. O. Kennedy, and Dave Haynes in first ward.

The fight seemed to have centered in office of mayor when Frank Spoor was defeated by 94 votes. The result upheld the present administration in its effort to make improvements at as low a cost as possible.

The new engine and equipment spoke for efficient city government and the mandate of the people gave to the city four more years of honest government. Arlington Falk had a majority of 107 over Merle McKee for city clerk and McAfee was elected without opposition. Mr. McNurlen was also elected police magistrate without opposition.

Ed Kline of St. Paul was in town last week settling business matters for the estate of his mother, the late Mrs. Elizabeth Kline. The home was sold to Mrs. Tressa Arty and the household goods sold privately. Everything was disposed of.

State Contest

Polo, Forreston, Mt. Morris Schools in Band Tournament

Champaign, Ill., April 22—(AP)—Nearly 5000 Illinois high school musicians, dramatists and debaters thronged the University of Illinois campus today in quest of state championship honors.

More than 4,500 musicians from 56 schools, survivors of 224 which competed in eight district contests, started their three-day tournament.

Dramatic art students and debaters, numbering 200 and representing 45 schools, tomorrow will begin their 12th annual competition to crown state champions. The contest will be closed at 4 P. M. Saturday when the debate finalists broadcast their arguments over station WILL.

Schools sending bands here included:

Class A (enrollment of at least 750): Pekin, Centralia, Freeport, West Aurora, La Salle-Peru, Elgin, Belleville, Quincy, Downers Grove, West Frankfort, Peoria, Springfield, Thornton of Harvey, Mt. Vernon and Waukegan.

Class B (enrollment 250-750): DeKalb, Robinson, Clinton, Harvard, Paxton, Casey, Greenville, Taylorville, Monmouth, Beardstown, Collinsville, Flora, Effingham, Herrin, Belvidere, Geneva, Murphysboro, Mt. Carmel, Morrison.

Class C (enrollment 100-250): Chillicothe, Tuscola, Mt. Morris, Mt. Carroll, Waverly, St. Elmo, Carthage, Albion, Eureka, Princeton, Polo, Oakland, Petersburg, Harris, Gibson City, Arthur.

Class CC (enrollment 100 and under): Stanford, Keensburg, Pontiac, Fairview, Green Valley, Pocahtontas, Forreston.

The two leading bands from class A, three from class B, and four from class C will go to the national regional contest next year. Solo and ensemble winners will compete next month in national contests at Columbus, O.

Plays will be presented by these 16 schools in the dramatic festivals: Herrin, Jacksonville, Mason City, Fairmont, Olney, Dundee, Lincoln, Elgin, Champaign, Freeport, White Hall, Canton, Carrollton, Proviso of Maywood and two Chicago schools still unnamed.

Debate teams will come from these 12 schools: Dwight, Lincoln, Urbana, Elgin, Proviso, Joliet, Duquoin, Sparta, Jacksonville, Keawee, Rockford and Newton.

Seventy-two contestants were entered in individual events, including verse speaking, oratorical declamation, original oration, humorous reading, extempore speaking and dramatic reading.

Minnesotan Wins Over Dusek Two Falls Of Three

Newark, N. J., April 22—(AP)—Cliff Olsen of Minnesota defeated Wally Dusek of Nebraska in the main wrestling bout here Tuesday night by winning the last two falls of the three-fall match.

Dusek won the first fall in 11 minutes, then Olsen won the second and third in five and two minutes, respectively.

In Wednesday's "wrestling last night," Dusek was erroneously reported to have won the match.

BRADLEY HORSE GOOD PROSPECT; IN KY. DERBY

New York, April 22—(AP)—Although decisively beaten in his three-year-old debut, E. R. Bradley's Brooklyn has not lost caste where the Kentucky Derby is concerned.

The highly-regarded son of Blue Larkspur, rated Bradley's No. 1 candidate for the May 8 renewal of the turf classic, finished third, behind his stablemate, Billionaire, and Edward W. Duffey's Grey Gold, in a mile and a sixteenth test at Keeneland park yesterday.

Frank Shannon, layer of future book odds, dropped the Bradley ace only a notch, however, quoting him at 8 to 1 as compared with 7 to 1 against Mrs. Ethel V. Mar's Reaping Reward and 4 to 1 against the favorite, J. H. Louchheim's Pom-poon. The new bookmaker lost no time, however, in slashing Grey Gold, also running for the first time this year, from 200 to 1 to 40 to 1. Although Billionaire was closest to Grey Gold at the finish, he remained at 20 to 1.

Both Billionaire and Brooklyn kept within striking distance to the head of the stretch, but failed in the final drive, as Grey Gold, which failed to win a race in 14 starts last year, went on to finish two lengths in front of Billionaire.

Although Chiclorado, Mrs. Payne Whitney's main hope to duplicate Twenty Grand's 1931 triumph, and Mrs. Myrtle Shea's Merry Maker scored easy triumphs, in the east, they failed to make much impression on the future books.

Invitations to help sell the hearts have been mailed to quite a number of young people and as contest incentives as well as rewards for their good efforts, Dixon merchants are offering some attractive prizes to those who secure the largest amount for their sales. There will be movie passes for the winners.

The sponsors hope that every citizen will "have a heart" on Saturday, thereby helping an unfortunate. No sum will be too large and none too small to help this worthy cause. Purchasers are requested to display their tags to avoid second appeals.

During the 18th century, fans were made with delicately carved sticks of mother-of-pearl, encrusted with jewels, gold and silver, and mounted with silk, lace, or skin decorated by the lading artists of the day.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers neglect nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about a pint a day, or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning show there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

As excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatism, pain, lumbago, leg pains, loss of sleep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SUBWAYS

Survey Shows Under-ground Traffic Lanes Speed

Washington, D. C.—Discussions of a subway for the District of Columbia are reminders that this is the only major capital of the world today without this type of rapid transit," says a bulletin from the National Geographic society.

"England, France, Germany, Japan, Argentina and Soviet Russia—all these world powers have underground railways built into their capital cities' foundations. Italy, joining the countries with underground transportation this year, broke ground in February to plant four miles of subway at the roots of ancient Rome itself.

"Almost a Score of Cities
"Even countries which do not have marked traffic congestion have provided their capitals with subways—Hungary, Spain, Scotland, and Greece. Chile has approved subway plans for Santiago and Czechoslovakia has started on 15 underground miles for Praha.
"London's tubes, Paris' Metro, Berlin's white 'U' on a blue ground, the broad flaring 'M' over Moscow's subway entrances, crowds funneling into the sidewalk crowds of New York's subways—all are the talk of tourists and the speedy escape from tangles of surface traffic.

"About 17 cities in the world have subway systems with underground sections in their street railways, where surface cars go underground for several stations, then emerge farther on.

"A great many more street railway systems employ underground passages where track and train dip below the surface to avoid a hill or a congested area, as in Pittsburgh and in Los Angeles, and at the Kobe end of the line between Japan's metropolis of Osaka and its port Kobe. Chicago has a subway for freight but none for passengers.

"So far, the closest approximation to a subway in Washington is a budget underground railway which has no schedule, no tickets, and only the most distinguished patrons. It shuttles back and forth beneath the Capitol and the Senate office building, carrying senators from office to oratory without exposure to traffic or weather hazards.

Newark and Rochester Use Old Canal Beds

"In Liverpool, Newark, Rochester and Athens the street railways lead a Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde existence, going underground for only part of their career. Athens has a couple of bright orange and blue stations on less than a half-mile of sub-surface railway. Liverpool's subway section operates under the Mersey river, in tunnels of brickwork set in cement with three of its seven stations underground. Newark has a mile and a half of subway connected with three miles of open cut, built in the old Morris canal bed, with a car a minute whizzing along the channel of vanished barges. Started in 1929, this project was completed in 1935.

"The Rochester system makes the best of the demise of the old Erie canal, converting a section of its abandoned bed into a subway, which surface cars can reach by ramps. The whole nine miles of its extent can be traveled in less than a half hour with stops at 16 stations. Freight service also makes use of these subway tracks. "London blazed the subway trail with an underground steam railway in the 1860's. Glasgow, Scotland, followed suit in 1896, with cable cars running in a pair of iron tubes, between 15 and 45 feet below the surface. This system now runs by electric power, but the line still goes around in a circle without any junctions. The Budapest subway, completed at about the same time as Scotland's, is of shallow instead of deep construction—a trench with a flat roof of steel.

"Berlin, another pioneer, now has over 40 miles of subway. Instead of separate cars for different classes of passengers, as in part of London's underground system, it makes a distinction only between smokers and non-smokers, with red cars for the former and yellow coaches for the latter. Some of its subway stations, such as the Alexander-Platz, with its pictures in tile of old Berlin, are three stories high, and serve the elevated railway as well.

"Paris has an even larger system, spreading an underground spider web beneath the city's foundation with 296 stations. In contrast to New York's simple coin-in-the-slot entrances, the subways of Paris require tickets for first and second-class travel.

"The subway has even reached Asia for Japan now uses this rapid transit solution for two of her rapidly growing cities. Tokyo and Osaka. Tokyo is dotted with subway entrances marked by the sharp peaked roof of the Orient. Passages down to the platforms are lined with arcades of shops, and one station even blooms with artificial cherry blossoms. Coins when dropped into the box at the entrance are magnified, as in New York, for detection of wooden nickels. Late reports mention newswires to be shown on subway platforms to amuse the waiting public.

"A newcomer to the subway circuit is Moscow with 13 stations on three routes radiating from the Okhotny Ryad station in the center of the new business and hotel section. In their spare time volunteer workers joined in the labor tunneling through marshy earth and quicksands. The marble stations are free of advertising, and mechanical ventilation and usually lofty ceilings—15 to 20 feet high instead of the more usual 10—give an impression of airiness.

"Subways are an old story in the new world, for Boston has had one since the beginning of this century. Philadelphia's narrow streets made that city also dig deep for a solution to its traffic problem. The subway city par excellence, of course, is New York, where miles of sub-surface track are counted not by fives and tens, but by the hundreds, and a nickel buys more underground travel than anywhere else in the world. In some spots, routes were blasted through solid rock without disturbing tall buildings on the surface.

"Farthest south subway is that of Buenos Aires. Three systems connect the central business district with the outlying suburbs of Beigrano, Palermo, and Saavedra.

The tunnel of one is large enough for regular railroad trains."

Harvester Company Abandons Councils

Chicago, April 22—(AP)—Abandonment of the International Harvester company's employee representation system, or so-called company union, has been announced by Sydney G. McAllister, president of the company, in letters to approximately 35,000 employees.

The dissolution applied to units of the "Harvester Industrial Council" in the company's 14 plants in the United States.

President McAllister said the action was taken "because the company desires to co-operate with the government's efforts to eliminate industrial strife and in the belief it is not for the best interest of the employees or the company to continue collective bargaining under a plan which has been subject to criticism, even though the criticism may not be justified."

The letter cited that the national labor relations board last November enjoined the union at the company's Fort Wayne, Ind., plant from negotiating with the company on the ground it did not afford employees full bargaining rights under the Wagner act.

"The company has decided to dismiss its appeal to the U. S. circuit court of appeals and to comply with the order of the national labor board," the letter continued. McAllister said it is "for the employees themselves" to determine how they wish to deal with the company in the future.

Mme. Lupescu Not In Rumanian Iron Guard Murder Case

Bucharest, Rumania, April 22—(AP)—A military court has hocked a determined effort to involve Mme. Magda Lupescu, friend of King Carol, in the trial of 10 members of the Fascist "Iron guard" for the slaying last July of Michael Stelescu.

Repeated maneuvers of counsel for the men to bring Mme. Lupescu before the court for questioning on guardist charges that she influenced the king and the conduct of state affairs were thwarted by the military court.

HIGHWAYS FOR SAFETY AND SERVICE

WHAT ABOUT THE GAS TAX? By C. C. Wiley Associate Professor of Highway Engineering, University of Illinois

The ignorance of most of us concerning our taxes is astonishing. Apparently we are brought up to complain about them rather than to know about them. If the average citizen really knew what his taxes were for he would be in a much better position to complain justly or to realize when he is getting his money's worth.

The Illinois "gas tax" is not a tax on gasoline. According to the title of the act it is "a tax on the privilege of operating motor vehicles upon the public highway based on the consumption of fuel therein." Whenever a motorist puts a gallon of gasoline in his tank he pays a tax of three cents which entitles him to travel the roads and streets just as far as that gallon will take him in his particular vehicle. He therefore pays a toll for the use of the highways in direct proportion to the amount he uses them.

The gas tax is thus a "service charge" and like all service charges it should be expended to provide and improve the service rendered. Consequently, the use of the gas tax for any other purpose than building, maintaining and operating the highways is illogical, inequitable, and economically unsound.

The net gas tax in Illinois amounts to about $27,000,000 per year. It is divided three ways. The state receives one-third, one-third is divided between the counties in proportion to the motor license fees collected in each, while the remaining third is distributed to the cities in proportion to population. The law requires that this money be expended for the roads and streets under the jurisdiction of each recipient.

The average motorist in Illinois pays about $20 a year in gas tax. Careful studies have shown that on the average it costs about two cents a mile less to travel on high type roads as compared with the ordinary dirt road. Thus the average motorist has to travel but 1,000 miles a year on the paved highways instead of on dirt to have his $20 returned to him in lower costs of operating his automobile.

When this fact is considered in connection with the safety, convenience, comfort, and satisfaction of driving on the improved roads, and when it is remembered there is an extensive system of such roads available to him, can any Illinois motorist honestly say that he is not getting his money's worth from his gas tax?

CONSERVATIVE SPLIT APPEARS IN PARLIAMENT

LONDON, April 22—(AP)—A breach in the government's conservative support is threatened over Chancellor Neville Chamberlain's new "prosperity profits tax" in his $4,315,500,000 budget for the 1937-38 fiscal year.

The possibility that Chamberlain's estimates would face fire from both sides of the House of Commons developed when such a staunch Tory as Sir Robert Horne mildly attacked the budget measure.

Socialists and Laborites M. P.'s who tried unsuccessfully yesterday to obstruct the new budget, shouted and cheered when Sir Robert, who was chancellor of the exchequer himself in 1921-22, admitted he and others were "perturbed" over the stringent excess profits measure.

"Taking both the income tax and national defense contribution together," he declared, "many companies will have to pay as high as 45 per cent."

"In some cases there would be a surtax and the sum might run to 75 per cent."

"I've talked with many people and there are great perturbations. Unless these are abated in some way I fear some check upon the enterprise of our country."

MAY DAYS

Dixon Merchants Assn. Plans Trade Events for Shoppers

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the apparel, shoes, dry goods, hardware, furniture and kindred-line merchants of Dixon was held Tuesday evening.

An extensive program was outlined and working procedure put into effect for the balance of April and the month of May.

The meeting was well attended by a majority of Dixon's leading merchants who are co-operating to make Dixon a greater marketing center for the people who live in this trade-area. Many complimentary reports have been received throughout the broad Dixon vicinity, from appreciative patrons for the extreme effort on the part of these merchants in providing real values in essential merchandise.

Dixon, today, is recognized, not only as an economical market but as a leader in styles and fashions brought about by experienced buyers who are alert to daily manufacturing production in style changes. A style change or a quality advantage made in the wholesale markets today, is afforded to Dixon shoppers tomorrow; so keen are these merchants who give their evenings in a co-operative spirit to broaden the selectivity of merchandise values.

The slogan adopted at Tuesday evening's meeting is "Dixon May Days." Watch every Dixon display window for Dixon's every day values for Maytime. Watch each issue of the Evening Telegraph for messages of merchandise values.

"May-Days!" Get ready for sunshine in May, now!

Mrs. Hamilton Seeks Divorce From G. O. P. Committee Chairman

Topeka, Kas., April 22—(AP)—Mrs. Laura Hamilton filed suit in District Court here for separate maintenance from John D. M. Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee.

Mrs. Hamilton asked custody of their two children, Daniel, 20, and Laura, 12. The suit charged "gross neglect of duty, abandonment and extreme cruelty."

Mrs. Hamilton has maintained her residence here while her husband has resided in Washington, headquarters of the committee.

The couple was married January 28, 1915.

LEE CENTER NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Shaw and E. A. Pomeroy attended the funeral of Edward Erbes in Sublette Saturday. Mr. Erbes was a member of the board of managers of the Bradford Farmers' Mutual Insurance company.

In the literary elimination contest in the school gym Monday night, Oswald Haefner won first in oration, Jean Hill first in dramatic and Dorothy Bedient first in humorous. These three will compete in the Meridian conference sectional contest in Poplar Grove next Saturday evening. Prof. Kingsley of the Franklin Grove high school judged the contests here.

GREAT NORTHWEST WHEAT PROSPECT DEPENDS ON RAIN

Some Areas' Subsoil Moisture Content Still Deficient

Chicago, April 22—(AP)—Up in the great northwest, center of the nation's spring wheat supply, the April picture of grain, crop prospects is spotted with optimism and pessimism, a survey showed today.

Farmers who hope to produce the first 200,000,000 bushel spring wheat crop in five years and to bolster the nation's depleted stocks of corn, oats and other grains, are again scanning skies anxiously for signs of rain as they progress with seeding for the 1937 harvests.

In the vast northwest where drought for three years has destroyed millions of bushels of breadstuffs and feed material, the crucial days when the fate of grain is decided are at hand.

The end of the long drought is seen in some sections. Rainfall has been beneficial in many parts of the Dakotas, Montana and Minnesota, where the bulk of spring wheat is grown. In spots, there has been so much rain that seeding has been delayed.

Beneath the soil, however, where should be built up a reservoir of abundant moisture tide crops through the dry, hot days of summer, serious sub-soil moisture deficiency persists in many areas. There, a repetition of the crop disaster of 1936 is possible, it is feared, unless ample rain is received during the growing period.

of ousting Senator Barkley are now worse than nil.

There is one phase of J. Edgar Hoover's operations about which the dapper, publicity-minded G-boss has issued no pronouncement. The story is tersely told, however, in an unnoticed 2-page leaflet bearing the index designation, "House Document No. 221."

The document is a public print of a letter from the President to the speaker of the House enclosing a communication from Assistant Attorney General Joseph B. Keenan, recommending payments to a number of claimants for property damage caused by G-men.

The most interesting item in the list is one for $500 to the Loubon Realty corporation and Mrs. Marie Apter, for losses they claimed were caused by Hoover's melodramatic machine-gun battle capture of Harry Brunette.

The desperado was apprehended December 15 in the heart of New York City, after his apartment house hiding place had been shot up by G-men under the personal command of Hoover. The affair brought caustic protests from local police officials, who declared the gunplay had been unnecessary and had endangered the lives of many women and children.

This is what Keenan's report says about the claim:

"The cost of repair on account of the damage in question will be materially in excess of $500. The claim, however, is submitted in said amount with the understanding that it will be accepted as a compromise settlement in full satisfaction for all damage done or losses occasioned."

Merry-Go-Round

The hearings of the Senate judiciary committee on the President's court bill have become so dull that attendance by the public and press has fallen to the vanishing point. The only reporters now covering the proceedings are the press association men who are compelled to stay there. The opposition, which has been holding the stage the last few weeks, is very sore but there isn't anything they can do about it. . . . Robert Madden, 20 years old son of Chairman J. Warren Madden of the national labor relations board, is captain of the University of Pittsburgh tennis team and regarded as a promising national contestant. . . . Somebody got his signals mixed at the White House the other day. It was announced that a new study of consumer spending habits would be made. The study has been under way two years by the Bureau of Home Economics and Labor statistics, and their report will be completed in June. . . . Nebraska will fill its quota of two niches in the Capitol's statuary hall on April 27. Each state is allowed two statues in this chamber, but Nebraska has had no representation. NECESSITY OF ADVERTISING IS EMPHASIZED

New York, April 22—(AP)—The "necessity of telling the story of American industry" through advertising was emphasized by Edward S. Friendly of the New York Sun in an address before the American Newspaper Publishers association.

Friendly, who is chairman of the association's bureau of advertising, spoke at the afternoon session of the ANPA golden jubilee convention on "Rising Costs and New Revenues."

"There is a great opportunity for newspapers to develop large advertising revenue by urging upon business leaders the necessity of telling the story of American industry—the part it plays in our social and economic lives—how it raises our standard of living—how it adds to our comfort, convenience, health and happiness—how it supplies employment, higher wages, etc.," Friendly said.

"This is a story that must be told and constantly retold if a proper understanding is to be developed between employer and employee and if the American system is to survive," he said.

Friendly added that the newspaper is the most logical medium in which to tell this story, "and a necessity could be impressed upon industry that it is just as important to develop good will and understanding in the public mind, as it is to sell merchandise."

Factory employment in the United States during the last year was 40 per cent higher than in 1932 and weekly factory payrolls were 80 per cent greater, according to the United States department of labor.

The changing of industrial markets in the United States is illustrated by the fact that in 1899 Massachusetts produced 47.2 per cent of the nation's shoe output as compared with 20.5 per cent in 1934.

The following ladies spent Wednesday quilling at the home of Mrs. John Conrad: Mrs. Clifford Maloy, Mrs. Ray King, Mrs. Robert Beard, Miss Lucy Claup, Mrs. Mildred Fry, Mrs. Leo Conrad, Mrs. William Baird, Mrs. Earl Holcomb, Miss Laura Graves, Mrs. Nettie Williams and Mrs. Roy Lippincott.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Glossick of Sterling spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin May.

HORNER INSISTS STATE SUPPORT SCHOOL SYSTEM

Faults Lie In Lack of Organization Legislature is Told

Springfield, Ill., April 22—(AP)—The Horner administration sent word to the state legislature that "the inadequacy of the Illinois school system is due more to its organization than to its lack of state support."

School lobbyists, who have demanded a doubling of state aid, were told in a finance department memorandum approved by Governor Horner that:

"Illinois taxpayers already spend more on schools per school child than do taxpayers in most other states, x x x"

"It is said that increased state school grants would equalize the cost of education, making lighter the burden placed upon poorer districts. Yet the plan proposed contains no suggestion to reduce local school taxes. It would merely add new state grants to the amounts locally raised. There is no assurance that local education burdens would be lightened."

The Illinois Education Association, which has contended that the state ranks low in school support, has asked that the distributive fund appropriation be increased from $13,000,000 to $29,000,000 a year.

Pointing out that the budget is unbalanced, the finance department statement said school officials have not attempted to consolidate districts or to help find new revenue sources.

"To make new and larger grants under the terms proposed would only perpetuate the present inefficient school organization," the memorandum said.

Representatives To Play Baseball

Springfield, Ill., April 22—(AP)—Baseball will become a party issue among members of the House of Representatives next Tuesday—but it will be the real thing rather than legislation.

Edward Hunter of Rockford will captain the Democrats, while Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville will pilot the Republican team, Speaker Louie Lewis will be umpire.

A resolution in the house provides that any appeals from Lewis' decisions must go to the circuit court of Sangamon county.

Governor Horner and members of the Supreme court were invited.

Many Illinois Grads Employed In High Schools

Urbana, Ill., April 22—(AP)—University of Illinois graduates are employed in more than 775 of the 801 accredited high schools in Illinois, a survey disclosed today.

Another survey of 500 high schools showed that 22 per cent of the teachers held bachelors' degrees from the state university. Forty per cent of the masters' degrees in this group were also from the University of Illinois.

Traffic on busy streets is measured in millions of car-miles annually—and millions of car stops. Can you make these stops swiftly, surely, with least possible skidding?

You can if your streets are concrete. Concrete's gritty surface grips and holds tires, offers maximum traction in any weather. Its uniform riding surface gives you driving confidence—a further safety aid. And at night, concrete's light-gray, highly visible color makes your streets safer for motorist and pedestrian alike.

For economy, for good appearance—and for safety—insist on concrete.

RAJAH FOOLS FATHER TIME; BROWNS WIN

Rain Prevented All Other Games In Big Leagues

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Old Pop Time is scared silly. Rogers Hornsby has the old fellow ready to wrap up his whiskers, toss away his scythe and give up.

The sage of St. Louis stayed on the bench for all but two games last year and Pop figured the Rajah at 40 and with 22 years in the big-time back of him, was all washed up.

So Hornsby, the "granddaddy" of big league baseball, stepped up to the plate yesterday, banged out a homer and two singles, and generally was there in the clutch as his Browns opened their 1937 baseball wars with a 15-10 clouting conquest of the highly regarded Chicago White Sox.

Didn't Change Status

The one victory didn't change the status of the Browns in this year's American League race. They held the day's spotlight largely because all the other clubs in both leagues were rained out. But they remain 100 to 1 shots in any book, strictly because the Brownie pitching staff is anything but that.

But Hornsby is still there when the chips are down. Maybe it was because he's getting ready to celebrate his 41st birthday next Tuesday.

In addition to his batwork he played an errorless nine innings at second base, but it was the big stick he wielded, and the definite evidence that he's still the shrewdest trader in the business that stole the show.

GREENLEAF IS CUE CHAMPION

Whips Ponzi, Takes the Fourth Pocket Cue Laurels

New York, April 22—(AP)—Ralph Greenleaf of New York, a champion in 1919 when Babe Ruth was starting to hit home runs for the Boston Red Sox and Jack Dempsey was the new heavyweight titleholder, is champion again.

Greenleaf stalked out of the past to whip Andrew Ponzi, another New Yorker, in the finals of the world's pocket billiard championship last night, 125 to 107, in 12 innings for his 14th championship.

The 37-year-old champion, who succeeds Jimmy Caras of Wilmington, Del., began playing when he was seven years old and won his first title in 1919 at 19. From that year through 1933 when he won his 13th title he was at the top of the billiards world.

Started To Slip

Then, like his contemporaries, he started to slip. But last night he came back in a match that climaxed a hectic day.

In the afternoon Greenleaf trounced Caras, 125 to 60, in 12 innings. But Ponzi also beat Caras, 125 to 120, and the two met for the title. At the start it seemed as though the years had overhauled Greenleaf, but he closed with a brilliant display of shot-making and had an unfinished run of 53 points at the end.

Greenleaf took the top prize of $1500, Ponzi got $1100 and Caras, $900.

RAIN HINDERS WORKOUTS ON PENN'S TRACK

Athletes Drilling Indoors For Annual Classic

Philadelphia, April 22—(AP)—Athletes from universities throughout the United States and Canada viewed today a sodden track and soggy field where they will seek to trim records tomorrow and Saturday in the University of Pennsylvania relay carnival.

Rain fell steadily yesterday, hindering workouts of teams that arrived early to "take the measure" of the track at Franklin field.

Crews of workmen were busy and indicated the field should be in proper condition for the opening events tomorrow. Runners were kept off the track.

Drill Indoors

The University of Pennsylvania athletes drilled indoors, and five members of the team from Occidental college, Los Angeles, Calif., practiced under the covered stands.

The far westerners drilled immediately after their arrival. Captain Jerry Isett, Claude Kilday, Stan Langsdorf, Walter Middleton and Paul Sampell went through their paces under the direction of Coach Joe Pipal. They will compete in the quarter and half-mile relays. Kilday, in addition, is entered in the shotput.

Forrest (Spec) Towns, Olympic high hurdle champion from the University of Georgia, Luigi Becali, ex-Olympic 1500 meter king, and a number of other stars of track and field arrive today.

Exports of machinery from the United States during the first month of this year were valued at $17,273,000, the highest monthly value since 1930 and a 19 per cent gain over January, 1936.

TRACK TEAM IS RUSHING DRILLS FOR FIRST MEET

Journey Into Bureau County for Triangular Races

Barring difficulties arising from bad weather, Dixon high school's Purple and White track team plans to compete in a triangular meet with Princeton and LaSalle-Peru at Princeton Friday afternoon or evening to open its 1937 season. Coach A. C. Bowers said today.

The Purple and White cinder team has been hampered all spring by lack of outdoor practice but took advantage of springlike warmth the past three days to accomplish must outside before it started raining late Tuesday night. Over 50 candidates are out for places on the team, but only six of these are lettermen. Despite the lack of veteran talent Coach Bowers describes his prospects as fair.

Night Meet Possible

The list of boys going to Princeton had not been announced today. If the weather permits the meet will be run at night under floodlights, the first track and field meet under these conditions experienced by the locals.

Dixon high's squad will compete with Rock Falls there Tuesday, April 27, and will then invade Mendota Thursday, April 29, for their first conference dual meet of the spring.

FAST TRACK TO ASSIST DRAKE RELAY STARS

2,000 Athletes Are Entered In Twenty-Eighth Classic

Des Moines, Iowa, April 22—(AP)—Track and field stars from all parts of the country moved into Des Moines today for the opening of the twenty-eighth annual Drake relays tomorrow.

Some 2,000 university, college and high school competitors will be here by tomorrow. One hundred and eighty-four schools, second largest entry list on record, are entered in the midwest's greatest track carnival.

Director Franklin (Pitch) Johnson and his corps of assistants rushed final plans today for the classic. While Johnson's staff whipped through last-minute details, many of the early arrivals took brief warm-up exercises on the Drake track, lightning fast from a soaking rain followed by a warm spring sun.

Four Midwest Teams

Noire Dame, Northwestern, Ohio State and South Dakota were midwest representatives on the track today.

Although Saturday generally is considered the big day for the relays, an attractive program has been arranged for tomorrow.

The spring medley relay, added to the Drake card this year, tops the Friday events.

Ohio State, anchored by the great Chuck Beetham, national collegiate half mile champion, will shoot for a national mark in the event. Coach Larry Snyder declares that if his team has a fast track it will go under the national mark of 3:27.4.

FRANKLIN GROVE CRIBbage TEAM HANDED DEFEAT

Dixon Novices Not So Inexperienced As Advertised

Franklin Grove's championship cribbage team, victor in many a bitter struggle, invaded Dixon last evening with little success. The contest was staged at the fire department headquarters where Captain Dave Kelly had assembled a team of novices, which aside from himself was composed of Joe Miller, Chief Sam Cramer, Gilbert Finch and E. L. Fulmer.

Captain George Schultz, a veteran at the cribbage board and who at one time held the perfect hand, a life long hope in the heart of any follower of the game, was accompanied by the following men: John Voght, Dorsey Buck and F. C. Gross. The teams paired off with Kelly and Miller opposing Buck and Gross, where at the close of the play of 15 games, the firemen had pegged 10 of the number. At the head table Captain Schultz and John Voght, both veterans, were unable to solve the play of Chief Sam Cramer and his two novices, Finch and Fulmer and together the latter trio managed to peg out 10 of the 15 games played. At both tables the final count stood, Dixon, 20, Franklin Grove, 10. Another series is to be played in the near future. Umpires during the evening were George Aschenbrenner, Sr., and Paul Sodergren.

CHICAGO, OMAHA WOMEN BOWLERS AFTER LEADERS

WALDORF SHOWS NO PESSIMISM; SPRING DRILLS

Thinks Northwestern May Pull Rabbits Out Of The Hat

Evanston, Ill., April 22—(AP)—Lynn Waldorf could do some advance mourning over what may happen to Northwestern in next fall's football wars, but he isn't looking for sympathy yet.

The big man with the deep bass voice who shuffled the Wildcat squad to the Big Ten championship last fall could mourn over his departed tackles, guards, centers and fullbacks. Every time he looks at his spring training squad these days, the lack of them pops him in the eye. But he shuffled an odd assortment into a winning hand last year, and won't believe things are as tough as they seem, until he finishes another job of shuffling.

"We lost 15 of the 23 lettermen who played in almost every game last year," he said. "Most of the 15 were tackles, guards and centers. Both of our fullbacks, Steve Toth and Don Geyer, will not be with us again. So, to start with, we figure to be weak at those positions."

"It may be impossible to replace those experienced players from among our young, green sophomores," he rumbled.

"They are a good bunch of kids, though, and I am not going to predict a sad season until I try a few more backs in the line, and perhaps give some of the new line-men chances at fullback. I didn't expect anything like what happened last year, and these boys may give me some surprises just as pleasant."

COURT RECESSES

Springfield, Ill., April 22—(AP)—Recessing until June, the Illinois Supreme Court handed down two minor opinions late yesterday as its April term ended. With two justices absent because of illness, 36 cases were decided during the month.

More than 110,000 big game animals were counted in Wyoming during a game census taken in 1936.

The length of the Great Wall of China, including all spurs and loops, is estimated at 2,500 miles.

THIS SIMPLE STORY changed the HABIT of millions

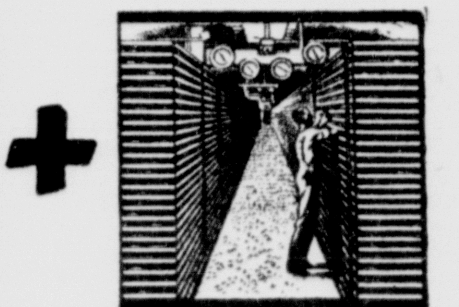

WHY PHILLIES ARE FREE OF BITTER, BITEY, RASPY TASTE

Bayuk selects and buys for PHILLIES the finest and mildest types of Havana, Domestic and Sumatra tobaccos. They are the very pick of the crops.

All PHILLIES tobaccos are aged and mellowed for at least two years—and are cured by the same methods used in making the most expensive cigars : : BUT BAYUK DOESN'T STOP HERE.

Bayuk owns an exclusive, patented process that removes the bitter oils and harsh elements that ordinary curing methods don't, and can't, get out. No other cigar manufacturer can use this process.

Are you satisfied with your present cigar? Does each one give you a mild, smooth smoke? Do you enjoy every puff—even down to the end?

If your answer is NO, do what millions of other smokers have done. Stop buying the same cigar through sheer force of HABIT—and try PHILLIES.

Why PHILLIES? Because it has no bitter, bitey, raspy taste. (Bayuk's exclusive process sees to that.) Equally important—PHILLIES gives you fine, mild, long-filler Havana and Domestic tobaccos from end to end.

Why let HABIT rob you of full cigar pleasure? Join the millions who tried PHILLIES and made it America's largest-selling cigar.

DiMaggio Feuds With Fellow Italians; Yanks Serene

Experts agree that the New York Yankees will win the American league pennant again this semester if they don't fall prey to over-confidence and dissension. Ruppert's Rifics, according to the boys, need fear no foe but their own dear little selves.

Well, as regards over-confidence, any thought that the proud and prosperous Yankees would be smug about victory and satisfied with themselves disappeared like a pay check during the exhibition series down south when the played every one of the insignificant citrus belt games right up to the hilt. No chips were down in these games, but the Yankees played for keeps.

Eagerly they leaped into each battle, lapped up the enemy's blood and hungrily licked their chops as they slaughtered both major and minor league pitchers with savage glee.

Veteran observers were rather surprised to hear the proud world champions discuss the strength and weaknesses of the minor league players they were facing on the morrow.

And so there have been no charges of over-confidence preferred against the Yankees.

Little Italy Seething
However, there are dark hints, heard around and about, that there is some internal dissension on the club—especially in the Little Italy sector.

It seems, according to somewhat widespread and considerably reliable word, that Giuseppe DiMaggio no spik English, or anything else for that matter, to Antonio Lazzeri and Frank Crosetti.

his fellow teammates, fellow San Franciscans, and fellow countrymen.

It's not exactly a Hatfield-McCoy feud, this coldness between the three great Italians, but there's no doubt that the lads have a good hate on.

Some of the experts, as we said before, have an idea that this little bit of unhappiness in the once-happy family is going to work against the Yankees' chances of repeating. They are a-fear'd that the Yankees may leave their fight in the dressing room.

However, the history of family squabbles and mutinies in baseball doesn't support this fear. Some of our very best teams have had a couple of boys wrangling down the home stretch.

How about, for instance, Joe Tinker and Johnny Evers? You'd never suspect, to watch the "precision of their performance, that the famed Tinker-to-Evans-to-Chance double play combination was marred by hate for one another. Tinker and Evers were, perhaps, the greatest second base pair of all time, unless it be Jerges and Herman of the present Cubs.

And yet they were about as harmonious as two drunks at the other end of the bar. They didn't speak to one another for a couple of campaigns.

Every Year They Fight
Bringing it more up to date, at least one pennant-winner in each of the last four or five years has seen its dugout or clubhouse enlivened by a nice, old-fashioned hair-pulling on the part of two or more players.

Ben Chapman and Babe Ruth sneered and snarled at each other throughout the Yankees' 1932 pennant-winning drive; Goose Goslin and Joe Cronin almost came to blows twice during the Washingtons' 1933 championship battle; the Deans—Dizzy and Daffy—battled with the entire Cardinal team before, during and after each game of the Gas House Gang's pennant dash in 1934; and Rookie Catcher Walter Stephenson and Shortstop Billy Jurgess swapped punches on the bench in the heat of the Chicago Cubs' successful flag fight in 1935.

These are just a few—recalled offhand—of the inter-club feuds that have smoldered and flared up on championship clubs. There have been countless more, dispro-ving the belief that a bit of clubhouse squabble wrecks a club.

It would be best, of course, to have all milk and honey. It would be best if DiMaggio and Lazzeri and Crosetti had a good cry on one another's shoulder and forgave and forgot.

But it's just about impossible to get 23 men together, make them sleep together, dress together, travel together, and work together without having a disagreement here and there.

As a qualification for voting, every state in the Union requires residence for a given period of time before an election. Registration must bear out such residence, to prevent frauds.

Orchestra Leader Is Convicted Of Assault, Battery

Boston, April 22—(AP)—In a court room scene that was played to standing room only, Rudy Vallee, the crooner, was convicted here of assault and battery despite his emphatic and detailed denials that he had struck a Boston newspaper photographer.

Harry Paul, publicity man who was with Vallee when the scuffle took place, was fined $50, but Municipal Court Judge Daniel J. Gillen let Vallee off by placing the charge
"on file." Paul appealed, and posted $100 bail.

With spectators crowding the aisles, a very serious Vallee, unsmiling despite occasional bursts of laughter in the crowd, not only denied striking Benedict Fitzgerald, a newspaper photographer, who brought the charge, but also that he had called him a name "reflecting on the Irish".

"Being of Irish extraction myself," said the orchestra leader, "I would hardly have used such an epithet".

There are two blacksmith shops in Jacksonville, Fla., where horse shoeing is a specialty.

Sunday afternoon was constructed by Henry Kasper, this city, with assistance of Ferris Walker, Dixon high senior, it was reported today.
The tiny ship has a wing spread of seven feet and is five feet in length. It's midget gasoline motor holds two ounces of gasoline. The flight lasted six minutes and the plane landed a mile east of Dixon airport with only minor damage.

It is hoped that the flight of this plane will encourage other aviation-minded boys to construct models that will fly for demonstration at the Dixon airport.

Albert Bowman landed at the Dixon Airport on Wednesday, April 14th. He was flying a Taylor Cub powered with a Continental 40 H.
P. motor. He was going from Chicago to Davenport, Ia., and stopping for gas and oil.

Dr. L. R. McDonald flew his Lambert Monocoupe to Champaign on Sunday, April 18th. He made the round trip in the forenoon.
The Dixon Flying club took in one new member last week.

The youngest air passenger on record for the Dixon Airport rode on April 11th. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reinhart Schnell.
She was less than three weeks old when she went up.

A model airplane built by Henry Kasper who lives at 720 Jefferson Ave., Dixon, made several successful flights at the local Airport on Sunday, April 18th. Mr. Kasper put about 250 hours of work on this model which has a wing span of seven feet. The motor for this ship is a one cylinder, 2 cycle gasoline engine which weighs only 18 ounces complete with batteries and 2 ounces of gas is enough for 20 minutes flying. The piston in the motor measures less than 1 inch and it delivers one-fifth horsepower at 7000 r. p. m.

CHAPTER I

THE annual Spring Frolic at the Green Hills Inn was in progress. Every person—young or old—who was of any social value in Green Hills was at the Inn, the men trim and debonair in spotless tails and tux, the women glamorous and luxurious in gleaming velvets and glittering metal cloths.

For Green Hills was one of the smartest suburbs within the metropolitan New York area, and the first spring dance at the Inn was unquestionably the gala event of the season.

By eleven-thirty the party was in full sway, and the stag line, fortified by just the proper number of Scotch and sodas, was performing in splendid form. The women of Green Hills were proud of them. Perhaps a little later there would be those who might weaken—some to seek rest for weary feet in the smoking room downstairs, some to fall into the gentle unconsciousness which one too many Scotch induces. But as yet the evening was unspoiled.

Hal Stewart's orchestra, imported from a three weeks' engagement on Broadway, swung into the lively strains of "A Fine Romance." The older women took heart; they preferred these faster tunes. The quick rhythm stirred their blood; it proved that they could step around just as lively as the 18-year-old girls, despite grown children at home.

MILLIE SANDERS, frisking by in the arms of Jerry Johnston, glanced over her shoulder at Jerry's wife, Laura.

"Who's that lovely blond with Bob Andrews?" she asked Laura excitedly, slowing Jerry down so that she might catch the answer.

"Mr. Hendry's secretary, I'm told," Laura replied. "I've never seen her before."

"Isn't she lovely? Jerry, don't you think she's lovely? Look, that blond girl dancing with Bob . . ."
Jerry looked. He saw a slim, golden-haired girl, and even to his untrained masculine eye it seemed fitting that she should be dressed in rich black velvet, unadorned save for the gardenias at her shoulder. Her eyes were bright, clear blue, and the depth of their color contrasted vividly with the fairness of her skin. She looked to Jerry like a girl who had just stepped out of some rare old painting, too delicate for this mad whirl of dancing.

"She's a beauty, all right," he assured Millie enthusiastically.
"And much as I hate to break your faithful old heart, Millie, I think I'll park you over here by the palms and cut in on her myself."

Millie laughed good-naturedly.
"You're not the only one thinking that. Every eye on the stag line is following her, but Bob keeps out of the way. You haven't a chance, Jerry. Better be contented with me for a while."

Millie was right. Every time Bob Andrews approached the south end of the room, where the men were gathered, a dozen pair of eyes tried to catch his, a dozen hands started upward to attract his attention. But each time, he adroitly changed his course.

After his tenth failure to cut in,
Jimmy MacArthur looked disgusted.

"What's the matter with Andrews tonight?" he asked Philip Hendry, standing alongside of him.
"Is he afraid we'll eat her?"

Philip shrugged carelessly. "It's plain to see," he remarked, with a touch of superiority, "that he begrudges you the lady's company."

"Can't say I blame him," Jimmy admitted. "Who is she, Phil?"

"My uncle's secretary, Joan Barrett."

"Joan Barrett, eh? Does she live here in Green Hills?"

"No. In town." He smiled pro-vokingly. "And you won't find her listed in the phone book."

PHILIP edged away from the group, a little amused at this excitement Miss Barrett was causing. For his own part he cared little for girls of the fragile blond type. Give him a warm red-head any day, or a dashing black-eyed Susan like his sister Sybil. . . .
Where was Sybil tonight, anyway?
She'd give him the devil if he didn't put in an appearance. His eyes strayed over the other couples on the floor.

Presently he saw her coming toward him, dancing with Jim Neil. Philip smiled approvingly as he watched her. His sister, he told himself, was certainly the finest looking woman in Green Hills. Tonight, in a gorgeous gown of metal cloth which emphasized every line of her tall, slim body, she was smart, sophisticated, delicately arrogant.

For the moment she seemed unusually gay. Her white teeth, strong and brilliant against the deep carmine of her lips, flashed constantly as she chatted with her partner. Her dark eyes roved provokingly over the dancers, yet Philip noticed they carefully avoided the stag line, as if she were afraid their challenge might go unanswered.

At any other time, Sybil Hendry would have been the undisputed focus of every male eye; tonight
she was feeling the new competition which her uncle's secretary was offering. She was feeling it, and despite her sparkling gaiety, she was not enjoying it. For more than one reason. . . .

Philip, quick to understand his sister's moods, saw beyond the quick flash of her smile, the cool abandon of her dancing. He saw the smoldering fire in her black eyes, the tense pulse of her dark head, the tiny pulse which beat spasmodically in her white throat whenever she struggled to hold her feelings in control.

HE waited until Jim Neil came abreast of him again, then he stepped forward and lapped him on the shoulder. With a casual "Hello, Phil," Neil surrendered his partner. Philip guided his sister's steps into the center of the floor without speaking. With light mockery in his tone, he sang softly the words of the orchestra's selection:

"A fine romance, with no kisses—
A fine romance, I think this is . . ."
"Keep still!" Sybil snapped, abruptly.

Her brother laughed.
"Nice of me, wasn't it, to give you a chance to be yourself?"

He whirled her past Bob Andrews and Joan Barrett, smiling graciously at Joan as he did so.

"If you have to be jealous, Sybl," he murmured, "why must you look the part, for every cat in Green Hills to find it out?"

"That little upstart!" she whispered through clenched teeth. "I don't see why Bob hasn't better taste than to bring the office help out here."

"I'm afraid it goes deeper than that, Sybil," Philip said, not unkindly.

He felt her arm, resting lightly on his, go tense.

"It can't!" she said defiantly. "I won't let it!"

Philip said nothing. He felt a little sorry for Sybil. He knew, as no one else had ever guessed, how desperately—and how futilely—she had loved Bob ever since that first evening, five years before, when their uncle had brought the young man home to dinner. "The best bond salesman the company ever had," Uncle John told them then; now, five years later, Bob Andrews was a junior partner, with every prospect of heading the Hendry organization eventually.

He was as striking in appearance as Sybil; he had the same dark, blue-black hair, the same straight classic features, the same flashing smile. But there the likeness ended. Where Sybil's eyes were mysteriously cold, no matter how gayly she smiled, Bob's were warm and twinkling. Where she was superficially gay and charming and calculating, with a quick smile to serve her purpose, he was naturally and sincerely friendly, with as hearty a grin for the bootblack who shined his shoes as he had for his wealthiest customer.

For five long years, Sybil had loved him. Because of his association with her uncle, they were constant companions; he was a thoughtful and attentive escort.
Yet, despite every effort she had put forth to deepen their relationship, he was still as unattainable, as impersonal, as he had been on the occasion of their first meeting.
He was the one thing in life which she craved above all else; his love was the only thing of which she had ever been deprived.

And now, it seemed, he was ready to throw it away on some designing, doll-faced stenographer.
(To Be Continued)

arming for offense and those reluctantly doing so for defense. His request for government economy, he added, did not mean American defense funds should be curtailed.

He estimated $953,000,000, or about 13 per cent of the budget, will be needed for the army and navy in the next fiscal year.

PHILIP edged away from the
group, a little amused at this excitement Miss Barrett was causing. For his own part he cared
little for girls of the fragile blond
type. Give him a warm red-head

SCHOOL FUND OF $30,000,000 IS SOUGHT BY STATEEducation Association
Says State Ranks
45th

Springfield—Illinois is able to establish a state school fund of $30,000,000, the amount now sought by the State School Board association, the American Legion, Parent and Teachers association, Illinois State Federation of Labor, and the Illinois Education association, says today the 43,000 members of the Illinois Education association.

As an evidence of the lack of effort to support schools by the Illinois state government, the "Teacher" points out that Illinois ranks 45th in percentage of income for education, 36th in effort to support education, 40th in percent of income devoted to state-local taxes, 36th in average pupil grant from state treasury to schools, 48th in percent of wealth going for state and local taxes, 33d in percent of farm value going for state and local taxes, and 37th in percent of state and local revenues going for education.

As evidence of high economic ability, it is pointed out that Illinois ranks 13th in average per capita bank deposits, seventh in percent of homes owning radios, fourth in per capita amount spent on amusements, ninth in per capita amount spent on shows (theatres), fourth in per capita amount spent on beauty parlors, ninth in average net income per return for federal income tax, 11th in average wages paid in manufacturing, seventh in average per capita income, and eighth in general ability to support education.

The state fund for public schools is now $13,057,000, or an average of $11.19 per pupil in average daily attendance. The corresponding average for all states is $26.12.

Black Is Granted
Stay Of Execution

Springfield, Ill., April 22—(AP)—The state Supreme Court granted a stay of execution to Corydon A. Black, sentenced to die in the electric chair at the Cook county jail early Friday.

Black was convicted and sentenced to death for the poison murder of Cordelia Brosseau last October in what he claimed was a suicide pact he survived.

In granting the writ of error and supercedas, the court stayed the death penalty pending a review of the case at the June term.

Deaf Boy Now Hears Radio

A mother of a deaf boy, Mrs.
Mary Gamphier, Cincinnati, Ohio, writes: "I have used two bottles of OURINE for my boy, and now he hears everything on the radio. Before he used OURINE, he could not hear the radio." OURINE was created by a European ear specialist for people hard of hearing, bothered by head noises, earache,
ringing, buzzing and discharge.
Get relief today with OURINE.
Costs only a few cents daily.
